Supreme Court Meets Tomorrow

Controversy In Little Rock Nears Climax

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he may have told friends he believes the rate of the school integration process should be slowed down.

But the President denied at a news conference that he ever said he wishes the Supreme Court had not ruled in 1954 in favor of integration in the nation's public schools.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas Legislature raced the clock today to pass a sheaf of anti-integration bills before the U.S. Supreme Court meets to take up the Little Rock school controversy.

A special House Education Committee Tuesday night whipped through and approved 12 measures aimed at blocking forced integration and at crippling the effectiveness of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People in integration lawsuits.

The Supreme Court meets in extraordinary session Thursday to rule, in effect, on whether the Little Rock school system shall receive a breathing spell of months or perhaps years before it integrates a second time as it did last fall.

It was to block a possible Supreme Court ruling demanding immediate integration that Gov. Orval E. Faubus convened the Legislature Tuesday.

The key measure he placed before the lawmakers gives the governor power to shut the doors of any schoolhouse the federal government seeks to integrate by force or court order. A followup bill would permit students thus displaced to carry their state school funds to a school of their choice.

One last-ditch measure provides for segregation of classes should a school be forced to admit students of another race into the building.

Political observers expect the bills to be passed by the House and Senate today and to be signed by Faubus Thursday.

Representatives Gayle Windsor Jr. and J. H. Cottrell Jr. prepared a bill for introduction today permitting school districts to lease their buildings to individuals or groups for operation as private schools, presumably to teach students whose public schools had closed.

A Little Rock NAACP spokesman, Clarence Laws, assailed the anti-integration bills as evidence of an attempt to evade school desegregation.

Meanwhile, School Supt. Virgil Blossom refused to enroll three Negroes in white schools. Two sought to enter embattled Central High, and a third sought to enter all-white Hall High.

The committee also approved six bills written by Arkansas Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett after revising one slightly. Approval of a seventh Bennett bill was delayed pending more study. This bill would have tightened state laws on soliciting lawsuits—obviously aimed at the NAACP's representation of students in integration matters.

Most of the other Bennett bills sought to prevent the NAACP from initiating or continuing lawsuits for individuals and to give the state more power to search NAACP records.

Reynolds 'Guilty' Of Entering A-Zone

HONOLULU (AP)—Earle L. Reynolds Tuesday was convicted of illegally sailing a ketch into a restricted Pacific Ocean zone to protest nuclear tests.

The former professor of anthropology at Antioch, Ohio, College could be sentenced after probation reports are filed to two years in jail and fined $5,000. He goes before probation officers today.

A U.S. District Court jury deliberated 2 1/2 hours before finding Reynolds guilty.

Reynolds contended the Atomic Energy Commission had no constitutional right to forbid traffic on the high seas.

Reynolds was arrested 65 miles inside the Eniwetok test zone July 2. He said he would confer with Washington, D.C., attorney Joseph L. Rauh Jr. before deciding on an appeal.

First Returns Show Wide Margin

Statehood Favored Heavily in Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Vast rugged and beautiful Alaska—slim in population but mighty in size and potential—is going to become the 49th state of the Union.

With 113 of 297 precincts reporting, immediate statehood was favored 19,860 to 3,814.

Two other propositions, which must be approved if statehood is to become a fact, also were passing by the same margin. No. 2 on the ballot dealt with acceptance of the present boundaries as boundaries of the new state. No. 3 provides for the transfer of 103,350,000 acres of public land to the new state, and reserves power to a president to make certain military land withdrawals in time of national emergency.

Forecasts on the eve of the election had predicted not much more than a 2-1 margin for statehood.

Based on Fear
Most of the opposition had been based on a fear that increased costs of state government would mean a new boost in taxes for the territory's 215,000 residents.

However, the heavy outpouring at the polls was viewed by most observers as an indication that statehood was headed for approval by a wide margin.

"It's a wonderful night," said Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton, the administration's greatest booster of Alaskan statehood. Seaton was in Juneau for the vote tabulation.

The voting was so heavy at many precincts that the supply of official election ballots was exhausted before the polls closed.

Airplanes were pressed into service to carry new supplies of ballots to some precincts. At others, sample election ballots were put into official use.

The special statehood voting was paired with a primary election to nominate candidates for the first state offices.

Voting for Candidates
For the first time, Alaskans were voting for candidates seeking two seats in the U.S. Senate, one seat in the U.S. House, for governor and for secretary of state.

If statehood is approved, the candidates nominated in the primary will stand for election Nov. 25.

After the general election results have been certified in November, the President will issue a proclamation creating the new state. The proclamation is expected.

There has been no established procedure for rearranging the flag. In 1912 President William Howard Taft approved the present 48-star design which was recommended by an Army-Navy board after Arizona and New Mexico joined the Union.

During the session of Congress just ended, the House passed a bill by Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) spelling out general procedures for rearrangement of the flag. The measure died in the late rush for adjournment.

The bill would have called on the President to take steps toward effecting any necessary redesign. Supporters of the legislation said there should be no obstacle to the President proceeding even without congressional authorization.

Incidentally, citizens won't have to throw away their flags after next July 4 if they are not of the new 49-star variety. A presidential order allows flags on hand when a new state is admitted to be used until they become unserviceable.

Quemoy, Tan Get 5th Day of Heavy Shelling

Threat of Attack Is Growing With Continued Gunfire

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The heavy Communist bombardment of Quemoy and the Tan islets continued for the fifth day today, but no Communist air or sea activity around the Nationalist-held islands was reported.

Belief increased on Formosa that the Reds soon would try to seize two tiny Nationalist islets in the Tan group only 2 1/2 miles from the Communist port of Amoy.

The Reds might plan to assault the Tans in the belief that they can get away with it without risking American intervention, observers said. Washington dispatches have suggested this appraisal of Communist intentions, is well founded.

Rained on Tan Islets
More than 8,000 shells rained on two of the three Tan islets in Amoy Bay and on the bigger island of Quemoy, 15 miles east of the big Red port of Amoy.

The Nationalists said their guns fired back but did not disclose to what extent.

The isles of Tatan and Erhtan got the worst pasting, 4,000 rounds in half an hour. The Nationalists made no announcement of casualties, but Tatan is only 96 acres in size and Erhtan only 40 acres. The islets are 2 1/2 miles from Amoy and are key posts for observation of shipping to and from the Red port.

Reported Successes
The Nationalists reported successes in their return fire Tuesday, claiming their guns knocked out artillery emplacements on Wuy, a small island in Amoy Bay, and on Ting Tateng Island, and blew up ammunition and gasoline dumps on Wuy and at Weitou, on the mainland.

By Nationalist count, the Communist lost 100 men.

Mrs. Jay Reed, 59, of Lacombe, N.Y., was treated at the Central Clinic for abrasions of the left forehead and right knee following an accident at the intersection of E. State St. and Lincoln Ave. Tuesday at 10:15 p.m.

Mrs. Reed was riding in a car given by her husband, Jay, 63, when it collided with an auto operated by Frank Fish, 53, of RD 5, Salem.

Reed was fined $10 by Mayor Harold D. Smith for failing to yield the right of way.

R. V. Phillis Succeeds Supt. Ray Adam

Salem Man Appointed To County Home Post

A change of administration at the Columbiana County Home near Lisbon was announced Tuesday by county commissioners after a special meeting.

Ray Adam, superintendent the past 17 1/2 years, resigned effective Monday.

Succeeding him will be Russell V. Phillis, 38, of 747 Franklin Ave., who was given a provisional appointment good for 90 days.

Galen Greenstein of Salem, president of the Board of Commissioners, said the board will ask the State Civil Service Commission to conduct an examination and submit an eligibility list.

Born and reared on a Depot Rd. farm three miles south of Salem, Phillis is a member of Salem Grange and was a coremaker at the Doming Co. for 17 years. He and his wife, the former Marvel Miller, formerly operated a restaurant business here.

Phillis said he intends to appoint his wife as home matron. They have two sons, David, 11, and Richard, 16. The family will move into the superintendent's apartment in the administration building next week.

Adam was appointed superintendent March 1, 1942. He said the death of his wife, Bessie, May 30, was the principal factor in his

Dr. Cattell's Sermon Opens Yearly Meeting

Dr. Everett Cattell, general superintendent of the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends, preached the opening sermon in the week's program in Damascus Tuesday morning. His subject was "The Word Made Flesh."

Dr. Cattell challenged his listeners to break out of self-satisfaction and carry the word of God to the world.

Using as his subject, "Causes for Casualties Among the Clergymen," the Rev. Harold B. Winn of Salem addressed a meeting Tuesday afternoon of ministers, elders, and overseers.

The Rev. Winn also presided during the Tuesday evening meeting and will speak again on Friday morning.

The first sermon in the study of the text, "Let Him go up to Jerusalem and build the house of the Lord God of Israel," (Ezra 1:3), was given by the Rev. Robert Hess evangelist, Tuesday evening to an overflow crowd in the Meeting House. The Rev. Hess is a missionary from India, now living in Damascus.

During the missionary rally on Tuesday afternoon of the Women's Mission Union the following officers were elected: Mrs. Chester Stanley, president; Mrs. Edward Escowle, vice president; Mrs. Donald Oswald, re-elected secretary-treasurer (all of Damascus); and Mrs. Ralph Blackburn of East Goshen, re-elected superintendent for missionary education for women. Area Boy Struck By Bottle, Injured

LISBON — A Pleasant Heights boy playing in Mill Site Creek was injured seriously Monday when a pop bottle thrown from a car hit him on the head.

Duane Metz, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Metz, was taken to Salem City Hospital, then moved to Youngstown South Side Hospital. Surgeons operated on him Tuesday morning. He is in fair condition.

Policeman Roy Patterson said the empty bottle was discarded by a Lisbon High School boy who was in a station wagon with a group of students returning from band practice. The boy told police he didn't see young Metz and other boys playing in the creek.

Officer Patterson said the boys were playing about six feet from the bridge. The bottle struck Duane on the forehead at the hairline and he fell unconscious.

Hammaraskjold Met by Premier Samir Rifai

U.N. Chief Goes To Cairo Next For Nasser Confab

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold arrived in Jordan today for the first round of talks to stabilize the Middle East enough for U. S. and British troops to go home.

The U. N. secretary general was greeted at the Amman airport by Premier Samir Rifai. They went directly to King Hussein's hilltop palace. Hammarskjold declined to discuss his peacemaking mission with reporters.

Hammarskjold and three aides flew to Amman from Beirut in a U. N. courier plane. During an overnight stop in the Lebanese capital, he conferred only with U. N. officials.

Geneva Side Trip
After a side trip to Geneva Saturday for the opening of the second atoms-for-peace conference Hammarskjold is expected to visit Cairo next week for talks with President Nasser of the United Arab Republic. He will return to Beirut to discuss withdrawal of the American forces, will also visit Baghdad and may go also to Saudi Arabia.

The secretary general flew into Beirut from New York Tuesday night shortly after a gunfight on the road from the airport into the capital. All was quiet again when he drove into town under escort of Lebanese armored cars and security police.

Unanimously Approved
The U. N. General Assembly last Thursday unanimously approved an Arab resolution calling on Hammarskjold to make arrangements to facilitate the early withdrawal of U.S. troops from Lebanon and British troops from Jordan. He also was asked to consult Vote Sought On Liquor Sale In Salem Twp.

A petition carrying 132 signatures was filed today with the Columbiana County Election Board, requesting a vote at the Nov. 4 general election on a proposal to legalize the sale of whiskey by the glass in the rural area of Salem Township outside Leetonia and Washingtonville.

The petition was filed by Wilfred Tunnat, operator of a tavern outside Washingtonville that now is licensed to sell beer and wine.

The sale of liquor by the glass apparently was outlawed in a previous wet-dry option vote, as it would be permissible under general Ohio law under ordinary circumstances.

Tunnat's tavern is the only one in the township's rural district.

Tunnat and Robert Faulker of Leetonia RD were identified as circulators of the petitions requesting the vote. A minimum of 112 valid signatures is required for a ballot place.

Under the law, such a vote in a township must exclude any villages. Frank R. O'Hanlon, election board clerk, explained. Tunnat's tavern is located across the street from a dry area of Mahoning County. The election board previously scheduled a wet-dry vote Nov. 4 in Elkrum Township which also has a lone tavern.

A majority vote will decide the Salem Township issue. A vote on sale of spirituous liquor by the glass may, under law, be requested.

Return to Earth May Harm Men

Sudden Speedup Danger to Spaceman

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Coming home to earth could hold the greatest danger of blackout and disaster for spacemen, a U.S. Air Force physician reported to the International Astronautical Federation today.

The danger would result from the sudden speedup from the earth's pull of gravity after the weightlessness of outer space.

This change is apparently tougher on the human system than going from the dragging weight of rocket takeoff into weightlessness when a ship is flying in space, said Dr. Harald J. von Bech, of Holloman Air Force Base, at Alamogordo, N.M.

Volunteers were photographed and analyzed as they rode in the rear cockpit of jet fighters. The planes pulled out of dives — simulating the terrible gravity pull of rocket takeoff — then arched in weightless flight, then sped up again.

With heavy gravity pulls, the passengers' faces became distorted as by sudden age. The men became confused. Their chests hurt. They felt faint or blacked out. The pilots were protected by gravity suits.

All volunteers said they felt the gravity effects more keenly after being weightless, von Bech reported. Some were experienced jet pilots; some had never flown before.

Defects in circulation, in muscular control, vision, and judgment likely will occur at lower accelerations and probably continue a longer time in space flight than in normal flight, von Bech added.

Blackouts could be fatal, with the uncontrolled space ship turning into a flaming meteor.

Agricultural Station Plans Special Events

LISBON — The Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster will have four special days next month which should be of interest to many Columbiana County people, County Agent Floyd Lower reported.

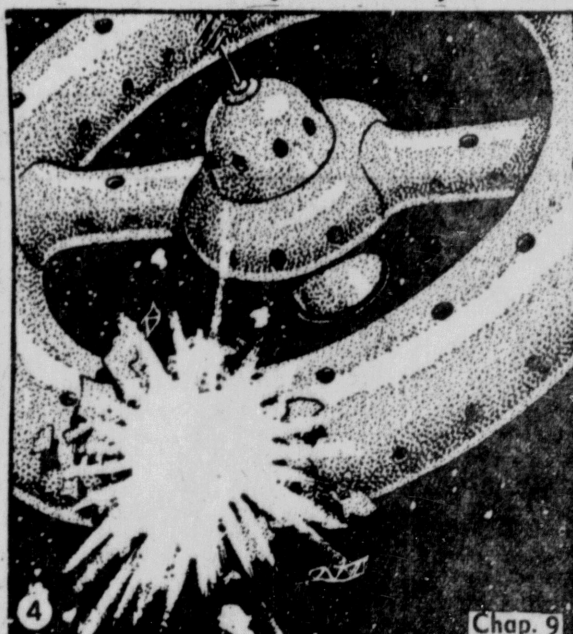

Soils and crops day is scheduled for next Wednesday and swine day on Friday, Sept. 5, at the swine farm near Apple Creek. Lawn and ornamental days will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 23-24.

FORFEIT IN LISBON

LISBON — Three motorists cited by the state highway patrol forfeited $15 appearance bonds on Tuesday in Mayor John Todd's court.

They were Frank Rumble, 21, Jefferson, Pa., and John W. Friend 21, Cleveland, both charged with speeding, and Wilbert W. Shook, 31, RD 3, Lisbon, cited for reckless operation.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS (9)—Dinner in Space

(1) Once men achieve prolonged flights in orbit around the Earth, next to solving the problem of air supply, providing a means for removing carbon dioxide and body wastes, and recirculating air and water, the problem of food will be of prime importance. Most foods will have to be taken in a liquid state, sucked through a tube as this Air Force man is demonstrating in a test. Foods in squeeze tubes are also being considered.

(2) In a condition of weightlessness, dinner in space could be a hazardous adventure. Unless magnetized, utensils would float in mid-air. Knives and forks could still be used, but for any kind of solid food a modern version of chopsticks may perhaps be devised. Any cooking would have to be done in entirely closed containers.

(3) Another space hazard of no less importance is that of sudden decompression. In the vacuum of space, unless protected with a space suit, a man's blood would boil and the air explode from his lungs, tearing his throat and nose tissues. Air Force man in decompression chamber illustrates what happens to a bottle of water suddenly opened at low pressure. The same thing would happen to the body fluids in space.

(4) Even in a pressurized, thick-walled space ship or orbital station, the danger of sudden decompression will be ever present. This space station has been punctured by a large meteor, allowing air inside to rush out with explosive force. Automatic devices immediately seal off the punctured section. Although a collision with a meteor this large is expected to be a rarity, the possibility will always exist. And men will not know how great that possibility is until they actually go into space.

Next: Loneliness of Space.

Top Entertainers Scheduled To Appear at Canfield Fair

Headline entertainers for the evening grandstand shows feature fun and variety in the five-night stand at the 1958 Canfield Fair.

Gabby Hayes and the Randy Brown Kid Show open the fair on Thursday evening, followed Friday evening by Herb Shriner and a star-studded cast.

The Lennon Sisters and the June Taylor Dancers are featured Saturday and Sunday evenings, followed by Dennis Day, Professor Backwards, and Francis Brunn on Monday evening. The Lennon Sisters and a list of selected acts will be featured on Sunday afternoon in a matinee performance.

Supporting these headliners will be a memorable lineup of supporting acts.

The latter spent three years with Gene Austin and has appeared in movies with Betty Grable. Many of the voices heard in Walt Disney productions are the voices of Candy Candido.

The Commodores Quartette is comprised of four young men from Texas each of whom is a personality in his own right. They do impressions of all the major singing groups and individually do impressions of most of the top singing stars in the business.

Francis Brunn is an outstanding juggler. He has appeared with all the great circuses and on television.

The Petticoats, a singing trio, have appeared with Tony Martin and his band, and have been featured with Arthur Godfrey.

Herbert Castle was for four years a featured high wire man with the Greatest Show on Earth, Ringling's.

M. C. Johnny Matson is a talented trumpet player and humorist.

Teddy Phillips and His Recording Orchestra features Coleman and the Phillipsaires and introduces a new dance craze called the "Wiggle Waggle Walk." Phillips is the latest of the band leaders to crash the select "big name" circle through repeated engagements at the Aragon-Trianon Ball rooms in Chicago.

The schedule for the appearance of the acts supporting the show is as follows:

More than 1,400 4-H projects will be on display as the Mahoning County Junior Fair marks its 28th year of participation in the annual Mahoning County show.

Eleven hundred fifty-two youngsters, 806 girls and 346 boys, have worked on a total of 1,474 projects during the past year.

The fair is providing more than $4,300 in premiums for the young people, in addition to numerous additional awards made possible by commercial firms and other groups.

Major interest has centered around the clothing projects in which 611 individual entries have been made. Livestock is the second most popular activity with 291 projects enrolled. Other projects cover foods, agricultural engineering, crops and gardening, conservation and forestry, poultry, rabbits and junior leadership.

The Junior Fair Board is in charge of the activities, most of which will be held on Youth Day. Among the principal activities on Youth Day will be livestock judging, style revues, saddle horse drill and demonstration, dairy and beef showmanship, 4-H king and queen crowning and the presentation of 4-H awards. The annual 4-H steer sale will be a major youth activity on Friday.

Underwater Warfare Panel Cites Possible Sub Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of experts warned today that by the early 1960s missile-firing Soviet submarines will be capable of devastating American cities.

"A massive attack with such weapons could level our entire urban society," said the Undersea Warfare Panel. The group was formed to advise the Military subcommittee of the House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee.

In its 16-page report, the panel painted a picture of grave peril ahead for the United States unless this nation's own submarine and antisubmarine programs are pushed with more vigor and on a much larger scale.

"In a future war," the report said, "the ocean could be our enemy as never before."

Therefore, said the panel, it was making these recommendations for meeting the danger:

1. The Navy should proceed with all speed with construction of submarines capable of firing the 1,500-mile Polaris ballistic missile. Present plans call for the first of these submarines to be available in 1960.

2. The Polaris submarine program should be kept separate from the Navy's regular ship budget. Polaris money requests should be determined by the secretary of defense and the National Security Council as part of the nation's over-all strategic deterrent budget.

3. There should be a significant increase in the rate and scale of building attack submarines — the ones that track down enemy subs. The report described as too small a Navy goal of some 75 attack submarines by 1970.

4. The Navy's research and development budget for undersea warfare should be doubled, with substantial increases year by year. There should also be a substantial increase in the Navy's budget for basic research.

5. Greater use should be made of universities, private research centers and industry for grappling with undersea warfare problems.

Clear, Cool Weather Boosts Ohio State Fair's Attendance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Tuesday's clear, cool weather helped boost the Ohio State fair's lagging attendance. But it wasn't enough to push the head count past that of previous years for the fifth day of the eight-day exposition.

Officials at the 104th annual fair reported 75,921 persons paid their 75-cent admission price Tuesday. Last year on that day the mark was 38,130 and in the record-breaking 1956 fair, 41,695.

Although the gate wasn't quite up to par, the competition was. In harness racing, an out-of-stater, Butch Harmony, won the richest race ever held in the fair's history — the $23,850 Buckeye State Pace.

The winner took the preliminary heat in 2:08, then paced off a dazzling 2:05 3-5 mile to edge Ohio Time in the final heat. Butch Harmony is owned by Harry Eckert of Huntington, W. Va., and was driven by Clyde Snook.

Carolyn Banbury, 15, whose sheep have been reaping her titles since the fair began, collected more honors Tuesday. The Dunville girl showed the grand champion ram and reserve champion ewe. Her entries also won the American Shropshire Registry Assn. trophy for the best ewe animals bred and exhibited.

In other Shropshire competition, Suzanne Lovett of Rt. 2, LaRue, had the reserve champion ram. Donna Hoyle, 14, of Rt. 1, Morystown (Highland County), was given the Junior Fair beef grand championship for her 1,045-pound angus steer. Diana Ross, 15, of Rt. 2, Sardinia, had the top Hereford steer.

Breed class judging completed in swine include:

Yorkshire — grand champion boar, Lester and Beth Nance, Arcadia.

Berkshire — grand champion boar, G. B. Gouts, Cardington.

Grand champion sow, Harold H. Yoke and S. S. Cardington. Spotted Poland China — reserve champion boar, Harold Menfort, Spencerville. Grand champion sow, George Cochran, Edison, reserve champion, Dale F. Culver, Morral.

Tamworth — grand champion boar, Schroeder Bros. and Weaver, Ottawa. Reserve champion sow, Cecil Groves and Sons, Hillsboro. Sheep breed judging completed: Suffolk — champion ram, Linn and Taylor Bucyrus.

Corriedales — champion and reserve champion ram and ewe, William Lewis, Castalia. Dorsets — reserve champion ewe, Warren Squires, Chesterville.

Gray Haven Royal Coon, two-year-old crow owned by Arthur Hansen, Rt. 2, Bellevue, won the Ohio Guernsey Futurity, competing with 35 other cows in her class.

Baker Returns To Senate's Witness Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert (Barney) Baker, 300-pound Teamsters Union muscleman, returns to the witness stand today for questioning about an envelope full of $100 bills.

The Senate Rackets Committee called him back in its hearings on allegations of corruption and terrorism in Teamsters Union affairs.

Baker told the committee last Thursday he could not remember whether he ever had an envelope at the time alleged, a year ago this month. Nor, he said, could he remember whether — if he had it — such an envelope contained $1,000, or from whom he might have received it.

On one point Baker was firm: "I never got paid no $1,000" to arrange labor peace between the Teamsters Union and the Esco Motor Exhibitors Service Co., of McKees Rocks, Pa.

The committee announced it also would call as witnesses George F. Callahan Jr., Esco president, and Edward Weinheimer, a labor consultant to the firm.

Owners of a Des Moines, Iowa, motor court had testified Weinheimer received three white envelopes by express, and that soon afterward Baker drew a $100 bill from a currency-filled envelope that looked just like one of those Weinheimer had received. They said Baker used the money to pay his bill.

School Bus Drivers Receive Physicals

LISBON — Physical examination of school bus drivers who will operate in the general health district will continue until school starts, according to Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner.

Forty-two drivers have been examined to date, Dr. Palmer said, for hearing, eyesight, color blindness, heart and lungs, nervous conditions, epilepsy and other physical conditions.

Dr. Palmer said the service is one of many rendered by the County Health Department in the interest of public school health and safety.

As part of its school safety program, the department also offers examinations to pupils for temporary or permanent work permits to determine their fitness for the type of work contemplated.

Dr. Palmer said the department will make a sanitation and safety survey on all county schools this fall as required by law. Such a survey has not been conducted for a number of years.

The department's school health programs are available to all general health district schools regardless of their board of education affiliation, Dr. Palmer added. The general health district includes all the county except the four cities — East Liverpool, Salem, Wellsville and East Palestine.

Kiwanis Defeats Rotary Club In Annual Softball Contest

COLUMBIANA — For the first time in five years, Kiwanis Club won its annual softball contest with Rotary Club played Monday night at Firestone Park.

Final score was 12-6.

There will be no Rotary meeting next week because of Labor Day. Labor Day is the final day of operations for the Firestone Park swimming pool where Perry Kyser, park manager, says attendance is running behind average because of the excessive rains and cool weather.

The approaching Monday holiday also has caused the shift in another meeting. Columbiana Volunteer Fire Department, which meets regularly the first Monday of each month, will meet instead the evening of Sept. 8 according to John F. Brown, secretary.

Everybody Out of the Pool!

This is one of the times when a follower of the news in a world rushing pell-mell from one state of confusion into another wishes everything could be held at a standstill.

But that is impossible. There is no life-guard to blow a whistle and order everybody out of the pool, to count noses. The confusion, itself, becomes a thing to be comprehended.

In the next few days, it should be possible to begin to comprehend what happened in the closing rush of Congress, which is always a demonstration of chaos — much of it induced deliberately to fatten the chances of legislation that would stand no chance of passage under calmer circumstances.

It should be possible to get enough perspective on the pulling and hauling in Little Rock to understand what is inside and what is outside the realm of possibility.

The position of the White House in the integration problem also needs perspective, to make sure whether President Eisenhower has sidestepped moral leadership by taking what could be interpreted as a coldly technical position on his duty to uphold the Constitution and the judiciary.

It may be made clear in the next few days who is out-manuevering whom in the proposal to call a halt in nuclear weapons test — and whether it should be described as a halt or a recess.

Another thing that may be comprehended after a little time has elapsed is the economic prospect for the last third of the calendar year—whether the main thing to watch from now on is the employment total, the cost-of-living index, the unemployment total, or the gross national product. At the moment, there is such a criss-cross of look here-and-look-there statements that no one is sure where to look for the signs of the times.

Gone forever are the lazy, dull days of olden summers when nothing much seemed to be happening; when the world seemed to doze through the good old summertime, resting up for a bigger and better effort in the fall.

There are no lazy, dull days any more—no summertime siesta. Even the vacationer who tries to get away from it all at some remote Perch Haven learns that the natives are eager to speculate on how many megatons of explosive violence would be required to restore peace and quiet to a chaotic world.

Just where the notion began that it's America's draft-age generation that's "beat" is undetermined. Everybody's "beat." There comes a time when enough is too much, and it not infrequently comes at the end of a congressional session.

Perhaps by Labor Day, everything will be comprehensible.

Everybody out of the pool! If it were only that easy!

Red China's 'Open Door' Policy

The newly coined phrase "indirect aggression" will not be heard in descriptions of Red China's military action against offshore islands now held by Nationalist China.

There is nothing "indirect" about aggression that takes the form of artillery bombardment, strafing and aerial dogfights, with casualties numbered in the hundreds. It is as direct as aggression can be.

Yet, the violent attempt by the mainland Chinese to destroy Nationalist Chinese strength on the islands, especially Matsu and Quemoy, could enmesh the United States in another ordeal by diplomatic flypaper. Eventually, President Eisenhower must decide whether Red China's hostility constitutes aggression against the Nationalist occupied island of Taiwan (Formosa).

In the early weeks of 1955, when Congress adopted a resolution giving President Eisenhower discretionary power to use U.S. forces in the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores Islands, there was opposition to the inclusion of Quemoy and Matsu. The opposition asserted that these offshore islands lay too far from Formosa to be counted as part of Nationalist China. Geographically and strategically, they should be counted as part of Communist China, it was argued, and Great Britain emphatically agreed with this point of view.

This is the point that Mr. Eisenhower will have to resolve at his discretion, if Red China's recent probing for weak spots proves to be a prelude to invasion. If he were to decide in this instance as he decided in the Lebanon instance that U.S. forces should be used on a stitch-in-time basis, the United States again would need the services of the United Nations to extricate itself from a commitment.

But there would be a substantial difference. Red China is not a member of the United Nations and therefore is not obligated to pay any attention to its procedures. There would be no way to bring it into any pattern of consultation or conciliation.

It could explain, if asked, that it was putting into effect its mid-20th version of a Chinese "open door" policy, consisting of trying the knob on every door and opening all doors not chained shut.

It has reason to suspect that Matsu, Quemoy and the Pescadores Islands are not secured as firmly as they were three years ago when Congress told President Eisenhower he could order U.S. troops to go to war over them at his discretion.

Best Ever

It is heartening to hear General Motors retiring president, Harlow H. Curtice, talk about a 5½ million production year in 1959 and an annual production rate of eight million by 1965. His estimates are plausible. They are based on population growth and an expanding economy.

But they include, as well, an estimate of desire for new models.

The catch is that we could see nothing wrong with the 1958 models.

But thanks to the auto industry's efficiency, the customer can always get another year's service out of the car he is driving if he cannot afford a newer one. That has become his highest tribute to the U.S. auto industry and the industry's biggest problem.

Once Over

The Marines discuss the Middle East "settlement":

"Are we comin' or goin'?"

"It looks good. We're out of the U.N. resolutions area and into the Hammarskjöld One-Man Fixit Department."

"How come we got peact so fast?"

"The very guys who caused the trouble got together and signed good behavior cards."

"Who takes over how to protect Lebanon and Jordan from Nasser?"

"Nasser."

"Are you kiddin'? Where's that leave us?"

"It leaves us with an exit from the Middle East Problem, a pardon from the Arab League and a certification that we got here through a typographical error."

"WE CAN BUY a couple rums, stop wondering where we are, get back where there ain't no man-eating mosquitoes and place bets against chances that the Middle East troubles are over, eh?"

"Right. You wanna bet?"

"What odds you givin' that Nasser ain't turned Boy Scout and that all Arabs are going to sprout wings and be buddies, give or take a few plots, insurrection broadcasts, sharp turns, and incidental bomb tossings?"

"I could give you 50 to 1 on the suspicious angle that Russia didn't make with the veto. It's the first time the Soviets ever endorsed the 'Love Begins in Emergency Sessions' idea."

"I got some advice for the Lebanese and for King Hussein of Jordan."

"What is it?"

"Read the small type. It must be in that U.N. resolution somewhere."

The Foundry Business

The Quaker City Foundry has long been known as a diversified jobbing foundry and castings from the local shop are used by industries throughout Ohio and at even more distant points.

The firm's announcement yesterday of a modernization program to increase the facilities and services of the 30-year-old organization reflects the confidence of President George Baillie, Sr. and other officers in the foundry as a basic industry. The company hopes to increase its payroll from 26 workers to near 90. We share their enthusiasm and congratulate Quaker City on its step forward to make a Salem industry better and thus strengthen the local industrial family that is so vital to the well-being and future growth of our community.

Baghdad Commitment

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—American treaties with other countries circle the globe but the latest commitment — to the Baghdad Pact — can by itself be a stumbling block to any real settlement in the Middle East.

The United States helped create the Baghdad Pact — which was born in 1955 — but has avoided becoming an outright member. The members were Britain, Turkey, Iran, Iraq and Pakistan.

All but Britain lie across the southern Soviet frontier. The purpose was to unite them in a mutual defense agreement against any Soviet attack. It would also serve as a military wall against Soviet invasion of the Middle East. We supplied arms to the pact countries, but stayed out of actual membership. Then the July revolt in Iraq all but ended that nation's participation. It probably will pull out. This brought the whole arrangement to the edge of disaster.

To avoid collapse of the pact Secretary of State Dulles last week signed an agreement committing the United States to defense of Iran, Turkey and Pakistan. This in effect made the United States a full-fledged partner, although still technically not a member. Thus the wall against the Soviet Union was preserved.

Presumably the United States could move into any one of the pact countries to preserve their pro-Western governments from internal overthrow, if requested to do so, just as the United States moved into Lebanon upon request.

What will be the effect of American partnership in the pact? It can be stated on excellent authority that the Eisenhower administration feels there will be a good psychological effect, perhaps more important than any practical effect.

This would seem to mean the administration believes the present pact countries, friendly to the West, would, with American partnership, be strengthened against Soviet pressure from without and subversive efforts from within.

But the Arab nations — with the exception of Iraq prior to its July revolt — have been hostile to this military alliance on the northern fringe of the Middle East, sitting just above the Arab world.

And the Soviet Union, of course, was and is violent in its denunciation of such a military alliance on its southern frontier. This can be understood.

It's not hard to imagine the reaction in this country if the Soviet Union had sponsored — and then joined — a military alliance of the Latin American countries just south of the United States from Mexico to the Panama Canal.

An agreement between the Soviet Union and the West to ban arms shipments to the Middle East has been mentioned as one way of preserving peace and some stability in that area.

Such an agreement now seems impossible. Before the Soviet Union agreed to a ban on arms shipments to the Middle East it almost certainly would want the pact countries in the area just south of it — Turkey, Iran and Pakistan — included among the nations which no longer could get arms.

But how can this country, after virtually joining the pact, now do an about-face, and even at the price of getting peace in the Middle East, agree to an arms embargo that applied to its new pact partners?

Johnson's Deflection

By DAVID LAWRENCE

'You Scratch My Back, I'll Scratch Yours'

Did Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Democratic majority leader, betray the South in its fight to preserve states' rights? Did he do so in order to curry favor with Northern "liberals" who might help him get the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960?

These questions are being asked today on Capitol Hill as many indignant Southerners hold the Texas senator responsible for lining up the votes that killed anti-subversive legislation as well as bills proposed to correct Supreme Court decisions on states' rights questions.

The main criticism is that Lyndon Johnson cleverly manipulated the parliamentary situation in such a way as to hold off till the last minute action by the Senate on crucial bills, when it was a question either of a filibuster that would have delayed adjournment or killing the legislation at this session.

The key roll call came in the Senate last week, when, by a 41 to 40 vote, a most important measure — giving states the right to punish secession and subversion and also dealing with the broader question of states' rights — was defeated.

Mr. Johnson himself voted with the Northern liberals. The only other defections from the Southern group were Sen. Yarborough of Texas and Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee. Even Sen. Gore of Tennessee often called a "moderate," voted with his Southern colleagues.

THERE IS A LOT of talk about the tricks that were used to line up the votes of senators. Here is now Anthony Lewis, a member of the Washington staff of the New York Times, describes it in his dispatch:

"The Senate majority leader has never demonstrated greater mastery of the legislative process than in his handling of a group of bills aimed at the Supreme Court. All the bills went down the drain at the session's end after a dramatic week of debate and maneuver."

"Observers agree that Sen. Johnson is largely responsible for that result. Precisely how he managed it is something only he knows."

Another report on what transpired behind the scenes comes from Rowland Evans Jr. of the Washington staff of the New York Herald Tribune, who writes:

"A remarkable display of legislative black magic, a strange and occult art for which Sen. Lyndon Johnson is justly famous, swept from the Senate floor the Smith bill, the potent weapon of rebuke that the anti-court coalition had wheeled up against the Supreme Court."

"The Smith bill, in short, had to be sent back to committee and by a combination of ingenious plays it finally was."

What was this "black magic?" The majority leader is usually the only one who knows in advance how each senator may vote.

The story goes that Sen. Johnson told many a senator that his particular vote was needed to break a tie and then, with lots of legislative favors that a majority leader alone can bestow to benefit the interests of a senator in question when bills in which he happens to be interested may come up subsequently in the session, the trade is supposed to have been made. It's the oldest game in politics: "You scratch my back, and I'll scratch yours."

THE BETRAYAL of the South occurred in the Senate. The House had passed various bills which would have limited the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court in certain types of cases, which Congress has a right to do under the Constitution.

Among them were several measures dealing with Communist subversion and passport control and with steps to prevent confessed criminals from escaping punishment through technicalities.

Prominent democrats like Rep. Howard Smith of Virginia chairman of the House Committee and Rep. Francis E. Walter, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, had been able to get through the House their bills to correct such abuses.

It was in the Senate that the death blow was inflicted, largely by the efforts of a Democratic senator who comes from the South but who, through his position of leadership, was able to thwart the will of his fellow Southerners.

At the same time a serious blow was also dealt to the national interest, because the battle against Communism and subversion is by no means sectional but affects the entire national and international situation.

Indeed, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, told the American Bar Association this week that Communist agents are "at work in our nation today, at this very moment, both openly and secretly, attempting to obtain our latest technological and scientific developments."

JUST WHAT Lyndon Johnson's true motive was in sponsoring the death of so many bills desired by his Southern colleagues set off quite a lot of conjecturing in the press galleries at the Capitol.

Some observers suggested that perhaps the majority leader thought he was impressing the labor union leaders and some of the big pressure groups on the so-called "liberal" side that he is a "moderate," and that they had better give some thought to him as a presidential possibility and less to Sen. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

In any event, the opponents of the legislation can be grateful to Sen. Johnson.

The Texas senator has been declaring right along that he isn't a presidential candidate but around the Capitol there is an insistence now that his behavior has encouraged rather than discouraged the ideal.

There isn't any reason why a Southerner shouldn't aspire to be a presidential nominee, but the big question mark now is what are Sen. Johnson's real convictions and will he be able to square himself with the South, which hitherto has looked kindly on making him a presidential nominee.

Basic Needs of Elderly

By DAVID BARNETT

Sen. Alexander Wiley, 74 years old and still spry, has strong ideas on the problems of the senior citizens of America — the 14 million persons over the age of 65.

The Wisconsin Republican, who maintains close contacts with various organizations of elderly citizens, already is deeply involved in planning for the White House Conference on Aging.

The following is what the senator considers the "top needs of our elderly citizens."

1. A purpose. Too many of them find that they are only dragging themselves through day after day of existence," he says. The future should hold more than "sitting and listening to radio or watching television and then, eventually death."

2. Esteem. The U.S. culture, the senator notes, honors "youth, good looks, glamor" and tends to play down "the judgment of age." Elderly citizens, he says, need respect and appreciation. To get it, they must try to understand youth and "youth must understand age."

3. Fruitful Activity. "There is nothing like a feeling that one can still put in an honest day's work and can still earn one's daily bread through one's skill," the senator says. "Obviously, we need to re-educate American employers to the value of utilizing skills of the middle and later years."

4. Housing. The U.S. must have housing designed so that the elderly can maintain their quarters relatively easily, he says. "It big as to be beyond their ability to keep neat or not so small as to make them feel they are living in a prison cubicle." Builders, he says, are just beginning to make use of congressional action designed to promote such construction.

5. Counseling. "Too few welfare departments and organizations have recognized their responsibilities for special guidance for our senior citizens," the senator contends. Counseling on jobs, recreation, special instruction and finance, designed specifically for the diverse problems of the elderly citizens, should be provided, he says.

6. Research. The senator maintains that additional basic research in geriatrics is essential. "A person at the age of 65 today has only the same approximate life expectancy from now on as would have a person at the age of 65 a century ago," he notes.

Through research, life for the elderly can be extended. "But," adds the senator, "it is not simply the number of years; it is the fullness of years, the happiness of years, which counts."

Bali Dancing Is Unchanged Art

UNLIKE THE FRENZY of the rock 'n' roll that some American youngsters like, the youngsters of Bali take to the intricate steps and stylized hand movements of the classical Balinese dance. These dances combine an age-old tradition with religious significance. From the wealthiest rajahs to the smallest farmers, parents see that their children become expert dancers. The rajah of Bangli, an expert dancer himself, personally supervises the lessons of his children as well as those of youngsters in his district. The children don costumes that have been handed down as family heirlooms and move gracefully to the music of the gamelin, or Balinese orchestra, which features a series of drums and gongs. Impressed with the religious tone of the dances, the children act with great seriousness, often looking like little old men and women when they dance. Most dances are based on Hindu legends. This intricate style of dancing, played against a backdrop of a Pacific island, is part of the never-changing pattern kept by the Balinese amid the modern framework of Indonesia.

Orchestra gets generous presents at rajah's feasts.

In a treasured costume, dancer does old routine.

Mrs. Edward D. Fitzpatrick Jr.

Thaxstead, Eng., Future Home Of Edward Fitzpatrick, Bride

Thaxstead, England will be the future home of Edward F. Fitzpatrick Jr. and his bride, the former Miss Shirley Anne Blythe.

The Rev. Fr. J. Richard Gaffney was celebrant of the nuptial Mass Saturday morning which united in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald O. Blythe of 1668 Southeast Blvd. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Fitzpatrick of Pittsburgh.

White gladioli and mums, palms and ferns decorated the altar before which the single ring ceremony was performed.

Miss Sara Colman, organist, played the nuptial music.

Escorted to the altar by her father, Miss Blythe appeared in a floorlength gown of white slipper satin fashioned with a portrait neckline and long sleeves. Lace appliques enhanced the gown which ended in a chapel train.

A queen's crown of seed pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a white prayer book, marked with an arrangement of pink carnations, white roses and stephanotis. Her jewelry, crystal earrings and necklace, was a gift of the bridegroom.

Preceding the bride were her three attendants in street-length gowns of chiffon, styled with full skirts. The backs were accented with streamers.

Miss Becky Jane Blythe was her sister's maid of honor, and was attired in a wild rose colored gown. Pink and white roses formed her colonial bouquet.

Gowned in Bermuda blue were the bridesmaids, Miss Sallie Risbeck of Cleveland, cousin of the bride, and Miss Nancy Magee of Pittsburgh. Their colonial bouquets featured pink and yellow roses.

Matching velvet bows and veils and crystal earrings and necklaces, gifts of the bride, completed the attendants' ensembles.

John Fitzpatrick of Pittsburgh was best man for his brother. The ushers were Thomas Egan of Pittsburgh and David Carroll of North Royalton, O., cousin of the bride.

Navy accessories and a yellow rose corsage complemented the light blue eyelet embroidered dress worn by Mrs. Blythe. Mrs. Fitzpatrick chose a navy crepe dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

One hundred guests from Salem, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Atwater and Canfield attended the reception held at the Timberlakes.

A bridal figurine topped the three-tiered wedding cake which centered the bride's table. An arrangement of white mums graced the table setting. Hostesses were Mrs. Anne Risbeck of Salem, Mrs. Nelson Carroll of North Royalton and Mrs. Joseph Wilson of Atwater, aunts of the bride, and Miss Barbara Ester of Erie, Pa., cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick is a graduate of Salem High School and Salem

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of imported lace over icy blue taffeta, styled with long sleeves pointed over the wrists. Taffeta inserts highlighted the hoop skirt. She wore an ice blue Juliet cap trimmed with seed pearls. Her bouquet was created of white roses.

The bride's maid of honor was her niece, Ruth Hartman of Ashland. Her ballerina-length gown of pink and white embroidered chiffon was styled with a pink cummerbund. Pink roses formed her headpiece and her bouquet.

Nora Hartman of Ashland, another niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a pale green dress with matching sash and carried a basket trimmed with yellow daisies.

Roger Fischer of Erie, Pa., was Mr. Eaton's best man. The ushers were Pat Irwin of Hubbard and Hamill Hartman of Ashland, brother of the bride.

Orchid corsages complemented the ensembles worn by the mothers of the couple. Mrs. Hartman chose a lilac suit, and Mrs. Eaton wore a champagne lace dress.

A reception followed at Johnny Garneau's Smorgasbord in North Lima.

The bride's table was centered with a two-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bridal figurine, and encircled with pink rose buds, stephanotis and greenery. White candles in double crystal holders completed the appointments.

Thinking It Over

By Robert Dieffenbacher, D.D. (Written for NEA Service)

"Since God has so much to do should we bother Him with little things?"

This question is raised by many sincere people. They feel that only big and extremely important matters should be taken up with the Father of human kind.

This viewpoint has much merit if the supplicator is merely trying to dodge his own responsibility. However, there is another viewpoint.

The more work we have to do the more we get done. If we in significant mortals can increase our productivity two or threefold under a little pressure, certainly God in His infinite capacity can increase His productivity to meet the pressures of His children.

Just because we cannot conceive of the infinite is no reason to limit God's ability to worldly dimensions. God can certainly care for any matters which bother us. It would be better to turn to Him with too much than with too little.

Hogan, Keating Seek Senate Seat In New York Election

By The Associated Press
Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan, Manhattan Democrat, and Rep. Kenneth B. Keating, Rochester Republican, will battle this fall for Republican Irving M. Ives' New York seat in the U. S. Senate.

New York City Democratic leaders engineered Hogan's nomination at a state convention early today over the determined opposition of Gov. Averell Harriman. Hogan trounced two other candidates easily on the first ballot.

The Democrats acted at Buffalo about eight hours after Republicans at Rochester with a big assist from the White House—sent a once-reluctant Keating into the Senate campaign. He was nominated unanimously.

A telephone call to Keating from Vice President Nixon helped end Keating's reluctance. The White House said Nixon made the call after discussing the situation with President Eisenhower.

Ives is retiring because of ill health.

Hogan rolled up 773 first-ballot votes after the Democratic convention was stalled five hours while the party leaders sought agreement at a series of conferences in Harriman's hotel suite.

Thomas E. Murray, former atomic energy commissioner, received 304 votes and former Air Force Secretary Thomas K. Finletter, 66.

Then the delegates made it unanimous for Hogan.

The possibility of a three-man Senate race emerged when the Liberal party, New York State's third legally recognized party, nominated Finletter.

An aide to Finletter said he probably would not accept the Liberal nomination. Finletter was not available for comment.

Harriman first backed Finletter, then Murray in efforts to obtain agreement on a candidate acceptable to the Liberals, who produced 264,000 votes when he was elected in 1954—many times his slim 11,000-vote margin of victory.

The conventions had little trouble agreeing on other candidates for other offices.

Both the Democrats and Liberals renamed Harriman for governor, George B. DeLuca for lieutenant governor and Arthur Levitt for state comptroller.

They are opposed by Republicans Nelson A. Rockefeller for governor, Malcolm Wilson for lieutenant governor and James A. Lundy for comptroller.

Republicans renominated Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz. He has two opponents, Democrat Peter Crotty and Liberal Richard Lipsitz.

Radio Station Tower Will Be Erected

WSOM, the 100,000 watt FM radio station of Russell C. Jones, will begin test broadcasting in about 10 days, following erection of the 336-foot steel tower on the Elms Coy farm on the Franklin Road Thursday and Friday.

Mr. Jones said the station will have the strongest power of any frequency modulation station in Ohio.

A concrete base for the tower was being poured today, following completion of the concrete block building which houses the transmitter, two studios and an office.

Mark Howard of Station WFMJ, Youngstown, will be program manager and announcer for the local station, Mr. Jones announced.

He explained that the station would specialize in high fidelity music.

William Springer of Canton, president; and Mrs. Vane Snyder of Barborton, vice president.

After the election Mrs. Robert Hess, missionary home on furlough from India, spoke on her work in the missionary field.

Mrs. Russell Zinnis, who with her husband and two children, will leave in the near future for Formosa as missionaries, told of their call and the preparations for the trip.

Mrs. Russell Myers of Canton told of the trips she and her husband enjoyed in Central and South America in mission work.

Songs for this meeting were led by Miss Bancroft of Barborton.

The Men in Missions also elected new officers Tuesday. They are: President Herbert Coons of Richmond, O.; vice president, Jack Ruff of Cleveland; and secretary-treasurer, Emerson Snyder of Barborton.

The Rev. Robert Hess was the speaker for this meeting, and his talk dealt with "The Faith of our Fathers." He told of the incident of the man who brought his son to Jesus to be healed after the disciples had failed because they had not prayed. The Rev. Hess pointed out that our danger is to be like them.

The Rev. Russell Zinnis also told of the call he and his wife received to be missionaries and of their preparations to leave for Formosa.

Election of Yearly Meeting officers is scheduled for Friday afternoon.

The Rev. Earl Smith of Cleveland and the Rev. Howard Jacobs of Kenton are in charge of music for the week.

Youngstown Woman Fined by County Judge

LISBON — Mrs. Anna Harbison of Youngstown, a cottager at Guilford Lake State Park, was fined $25 and costs Tuesday by Judge Samuel Crawford for dumping refuse in a state garbage can at the lake.

Judge Crawford suspended the fine on condition the offense is not repeated.

Mrs. Harbison was cited by Roy Painter, Hanover Township Constable and part-time park worker, who saw her drive up and carry garbage and refuse to a state can near the administration building.

Raymond Votaw, park manager, says the Division of Parks has issued orders to clamp down on indiscriminate use of the cans. They are for picnickers and campers on state property, he said, not a dumping place for the general public.

Contract Is Awarded For Sheriff's Cruiser

LISBON — Columbiana County Commissioners entered into a contract with Mackall Motors Inc., East Liverpool, Tuesday for a new cruiser for the sheriff's department.

East Rochester Auto Co. submitted a bid of $2,275 on the same model counting trade-in. Smith Garage Inc., Salem, bid $2,196.65 on a 1958 Plymouth Savoy 8 sport coupe.

Delivery was promised within 10 days.

INTERURBIA OF 1980—America's population is growing rapidly, autos are giving it increasing mobility, aided by the new Interstate Highway network. This combination has led to predictions of a new kind of United States within the next generation—a land of great "strip" cities stretching along the highway arteries. Newsmap above, based on data from Business Horizons magazine, shows how the face of this changed America may look. Already a 600-mile-long interurbia stretches from Maine to Virginia. To the west, an even more tremendous series of connecting strip cities is shaping up. These would connect the Middle West and the Great Lakes with the eastern seaboard.

14 3-Year-Old Trotters Enter

Purse 4th Richest In Harness History

DUQUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Fourteen well-matched 3-year-old trotters line up for the 33rd Hambletonian Stake today in a Midwest setting that includes fair weather and one of the country's fastest tracks.

At stake is the fourth richest purse in harness racing history, $106,719.24. The winner's share is $62,750.92—is the second highest for the sulky sport.

Post time for the four fillies, nine colts and a gelding is 3 p.m. (EST). The one-mile race is over the native clay track of the DuQuoin fairgrounds where pari-mutuel betting is banned.

Two fillies, Emily's Pride and Sandalwood, along with the colt Sharpshooter are the favorites. Through an unusual draw for post position, winter book favorite Sharpshooter will be in the No. 5 spot next to Emily's Pride. Sandalwood will start in a second tier No. 13 spot.

Ten horses make up the first tier across the track. Four are in the back row for the first heat. Second heat lineups depend on first heat finishes. First horse to take two heats wins.

Emily's Pride and Gang Awa represent the Walnut Hills and Castleton Farms of Lexington, Ky. Other Western entries are Record Mat from the L. E. Lake Stable, Colfax, Ind.; Mix Hanover and stablemate McCooly from the K D Owen Stable, Houston, Tex.; Little Rocky, S. A. Camp's entry from Shafter, Calif.; Lumber Along, Ed Schafer Stables, Bradbury, Calif.; and Sandalwood and Baron Colby, both of Two Gait Farms, Indianapolis.

Eastern trotters include Gene Riegler's Mr. Saunders, the No. 1 stotholder, from Greenville, Ohio.

Browns Drop Kaiser, Trade Goss to Giants

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns are flying to the West Coast today for two exhibition games, their roster already down to the prescribed 43 players.

The training camp at Hiram was closed Tuesday. When the club returns to Ohio it will work out at League Park here. But before that the rookies and veterans alike will have two more workouts—against the Los Angeles Rams Friday night and against the San Francisco 49ers Sunday, Sept. 7.

The National Football League requires all clubs to get their rosters down to 43 by the day after Labor Day, to 38 by mid-September and to 35 by the season opener on Sept. 28.

Coach Paul Brown, saying he does not like to make cuts on the road, reached the Labor Day limit by releasing rookie end Dave Kaiser and trading defensive lineman Don (Tony) Goss to the New York Giants.

Kaiser, because of his military obligations, arrived on the scene only last week. The former Michigan Stater tried out as offensive end, place kicker, and punter. He proved too light and too slow for the pro game.

Goss, a 270-pounder who played tackle for Southern Methodist, was with the club in 1956 but, because of an injury, missed the whole 1957 season. He has recovered, but Hank Jordan has beat him out at tackle.

Finals Set In 'AA' Softball Playoffs

History will repeat itself tonight at 9 at Kelly field when Stepanic's Tavern meets Dairy Queen in the championship game of the Class AA playoffs.

In last night's contests, Stepanics won over third place Old Dutch 4-3 while Dairy Queen defeated fourth place Bayard Grange 5-1. Further details were not made available.

Hot Stove Tourney Begins Tonight At Memorial Park

The Salem Class H Hot Stove League Baseball Tournament will get underway tonight at Memorial Park when the Salem Jaycees play Westville at the south diamond at 6 p.m. Thursday.

Six clubs are entered in the meet which will conclude with the championship game Saturday at 3 p.m. at the north diamond.

Bloombergs of Salem drew a bye and will play the winner of the Jaycees. Westville game at 6 p.m. Friday while Damascus will meet the Homeworth-Endres Gross victor at 6 p.m. Friday at the south field.

The tourney is being held in view of the fact that no Class H teams participated in the hot stove state playoffs held in Alliance recently. Bob Conroy, tourney director, reported.

KC Still Deals With Yankees

Athletics Hoping to Build Contender

NEW YORK (AP)—Manager Harry Craft of the Kansas City A's scowled.

He had been asked the same question dozens of times and it was beginning to grate on his nerves.

How long were the A's going to supply the New York Yankees with players?

"We'll keep dealing with them as long as we think it's helping us," he answered.

Last week, the A's dealt Murry Dickson, an aging pitcher, to the Yankees in another of a long series of deals.

"Dickson is an old pro," Craft explained patiently. "But he's getting old and we feel we're not going to win the pennant. (The A's are 21 games behind the Yankees, who beat them 6-2 Tuesday night.)

"So we're going to try to build up for next year. We're going to get a pretty good young player from the Yankees when the season is over. I have my pick from two or three. We'll get a good one, you can be sure of that."

As for the bartering with the Yankees: "Our dealings with them have been the backbone of our rebuilding program. We used many of the players we obtained from the Yankees in other deals and we're stronger for it."

Craft denied that there was any dissension on the club because he got rid of Dickson, a winning pitcher.

"The fans are annoyed," he admitted. "Because Murry comes from Leavenworth, which is just 27 miles from Kansas City. But that's as far as it goes."

Pirates Back In Second After Beating Cards; Redlegs Win

By The Associated Press
Maybe it's time to admit those pesky Pittsburgh Pirates are for real.

With only 4½ weeks left in the National League race, the Pirates are back in second place—lighting for their first finish in the first division in a decade. They haven't finished as high as second since 1944, when they wound up 14½ games behind the St. Louis Cardinals.

They're now eight games behind league-leading Milwaukee, moving up from third by beating the Cardinals 5-3 Tuesday night after the Braves had slapped down the Giants again, 7-3, with four home runs.

It was the Braves' eighth in a row over San Francisco. Lew Burdette was the winner.

Robin Roberts, riding a comeback spurt, won his 14th as Philadelphia whipped the Chicago Cubs 10-3. Cincinnati defeated Los Angeles 6-4.

The Bucs wrapped it up on Frank Thomas' two-run, 34th homer for a 4-1 lead in the third inning. Don Gross (5-5) won it in relief of rookie George Witt. Sad Sam Jones (11-10) was the loser. Gene Green hit his 10th homer, with a man on, for the Cards.

Burdette (15-9), who hasn't lost to the Giants since Sept. 16, 1954, picked up his 100th victory in the majors with a six-hitter while packing away a 9-2 record since the All-Star Game. He lost a 3-0 lead when Willie Kirkland hit his 12th home run in the fifth inning and Willie Mays hit his 23rd with a man on in the sixth. But Eddie Mathews then cracked the first of his two home runs for a 4-3 edge in the seventh off loser Ruben Gomez (7-11).

Del Crandall hit his 18th homer in the eighth, and Mathews then hit his 27th and Wes Covington smacked his 23rd in the ninth.

The Cubs grabbed three runs in the first, capped by Walt Moryn's 19th homer with one on. But then they were shut out on two hits by Roberts, who finished with a four-hitter for his seventh victory in his last nine decisions. Robin also cracked a three-run triple as the Phils scored six in the fifth. Moe Drabowsky suffered his 11th defeat.

Don Newcombe (4-11) needed relief help in a two-run Dodger eighth, but beat his ex-mates for the first time after the Reds staked him to an early 6-1 lead. Jerry Lynch drove in the first three Red runs, with a two-run homer in the first and a ground out in the second. Sandy Koufax (9-8) lost it.

Jaycees, Merchants Win Class H Games

The Jaycees defeated Merchants Vending 19-7 and Bloombergs routed Endres-Gross 28-5 in two Class H games Tuesday night.

R. Bently collected two homers and a triple for the JCs while Pirjak homered and J. Maxim tripled and hit two singles for the losers. Greene and Montgomery both hit homers for Bloombergs as Whitehill had two triples. R. Chamberlain and N. Gonatas had triples for the losers while E. Gross doubled once.

Greene and Whitehill each had three hits for the winners while E. Gross had three for Merchants. Winning and losing pitchers were not listed.

Bob Turley Tops A's for 19th; Orioles Nip Indians

Bob Cerv Inches Up On Runnels

'Skinny' Brown
Bests Ferrarese

By The Associated Press
If that American League pennant "race" leaves you cold, try warming up on this: Who is the league's most valuable player?

Jackie Jensen of the Boston Red Sox? Bob Turley of the New York Yankees? Bob Cerv of the Kansas City Athletics?

Those three appear to be the leaders. Jensen because of his 33 home runs and league leading runs batted in, Turley because he has become the ace and steady guy on a championship staff, leading the majors in victories and topping the AL in complete games and strikeouts. Cerv because of his batting bat—the man who carried the A's most of the season despite all sorts of serious injuries.

Each faces a jinx. No Boston player has won the MVP award since Ted Williams in 1949. No Kansas City player ever has won it, and no A's man has done it since 1952, when Bobby Shantz took it.

While a Yankee has been the winner in the last four years, no pitcher has won since Shantz, the little lefty now working for the Yankees.

Turley won his 19th Tuesday night with a 6-2 decision over the A's. He gave up eight hits, two of them by Cerv, who moved within .002 percentage points of idle leader Pete Runnels of the Red Sox.

Baltimore defeated Cleveland 1-0 in 12 innings, with Hec Brown outlasting Don Ferrarese, and the Chicago White Sox defeated Washington 5-2. Detroit and Boston were tied by rain.

Turley faced eight men in the first inning, and trailed 2-0 before he got to the third man. Roger Maris followed a leadoff walk to Bob Martyn with his 23rd home run. Cerv, batting .325 to Runnels' .327, doubled in the first inning, but Turley fanned Joe DeMaestri with the bases loaded for the final out and blanked the A's on six hits the rest of the way.

The Yankees collected 14 hits, all but one of 'em singles. Jack Urban (3-9) lost it.

The Orioles, held to two singles for 10 innings, finally put it away when a walk and singles by Billy Gardner and Jim Busby loaded the bases and Ferrarese's sixth walk, to Dick Williams, forced the run home. Brown, now 6-3, gave up nine hits—seven of them split by Minnie Mino, who had four, and Billy Moran.

Early Wyn (11-13) backed his seven-hitter with a pair of RBI singles off loser Russ Kemmerer (6-13). Sherm Lollar hit his 18th homer for the Sox, while Clint Courtney doubled home the Nats' pair.

Roberts Tops Cubs For 14th Season Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Right-hander Robin Roberts, the once peerless craftsman who flopped to mediocrity last year, has found himself. Roberts, 31, tossed a four-hitter at the Chicago Cubs Tuesday for the Philadelphia Phillies winning 10-3. It was his 14th victory against 11 defeats.

In a late season surge, his seventh win in nine starts gives him an outside shot for 20 victories, a feat which he rattled off from 1950 to 1955. He had a 28-7 mark in 1952.

Two years ago, the Springfield, Ill., native slumped to a 19-18 campaign. In 1957, he plummeted to a 10-22 season, serving up 40 home run balls to lead the National League.

"I don't know what was wrong with me last year," he said. "I guess I was pressing too hard after a horrible start."

With 203 pitching victories tucked under his 6-2, 190-pound frame, Roberts said he wasn't shooting for any lifetime goal.

Bears Failed In 1957

NFL Mentors Silent About 1958 Champion

When the Chicago Bears plummeted into fourth place last season their monumental skid did more than anything else to take National Football League coaches off the hook. They were top-heavy favorites to win.

Chick Morgan Wins Cage League Crown

Chick Morgan won the summer league basketball crown at Centennial Park Tuesday night when he defeated the Imperials 56-48.

These two teams and the Meritrois ended the season with 81 records. The Imperials drew a bye in opening round play while Morgans beat the Meritrois 52-36. Last night's tilt was for the league title and gave Morgans a final record of 10-1. The Imperials and the Meritrois both finished at 8-2.

Morgans, composed of eight Warren players, two from Salem and coached by Mark Miller, jumped to a 10-0 lead before the local Imperials could score. They came back to knot the count at 18-18 however.

At halftime, Morgans led 34-30. Once again the eventual losers rallied and tied the score with under ten minutes to play.

Morgans then broke on top to stay and stalled in the last three minutes to preserve their win.

Each member of the team received a trophy from the park commission presented by Rusty Tomlinson, park superintendent.

Wayne Palmer led the Warrenites with 14 points while Chuck Perunko had 12, Jerry Myers 10 and Ron Edwards and Denny Palmer eight each.

Mark Fenton led the losers with 14 while Skip Yeager, Dick Beall and Bill Pauline each had eight.

Citing the 1957 Bears, as the clubs get down to heavy training, the coaches clam up when pressed for a prediction of the '58 campaign.

"How're you gonna pick anyone?" asks Pittsburgh's Buddy Parker, recalling that less than a year ago he had characterized the Bears as the perfect offensive team.

In the Eastern Conference, Parker merely lumps all six teams in a group and acknowledges that the luckiest will win.

"Until last year," says Parker, "I figured that if you had a team that outclassed the field, you could pick it and feel safe."

The all of the Bears so astounded the Pittsburgh coach that he hesitates to rate the Steelers as contenders without couching his convictions in a web of fence-straddling conditions.

Paul Brown of Cleveland is to some degree a little more daring. You gather that he regards the Eastern Conference race as a three way toss-up between the Browns, the New York Giants and Washington Redskins. There's a trace of irony in his voice when he gets to the Steelers.

"The Pittsburgh Rams, you mean?" he asks, forcing a smile. It's obvious that the deals between Parker and the Los Angeles club for Linebacker Bob Dougherty and Fullback Paul Younger created problems Brown hadn't anticipated.

"If Younger is the Younger he could be in the thick of things," was," says Brown, "the Steelers was." As to his own team, Brown isn't as sure as he was back in the Otto Graham days.

"We got into the championship game last season," he admits, "but as things turned out, it was obvious that we didn't belong."

Quarterbacking appears to be Brown's most pressing problem. Although he glows outwardly when he speaks of Milt Plum, an impression lingers that he's not overboard on the sophomore from Penn State. As a punter, yes. As a placement kicker, Lou Groza's heir apparent, perhaps. But speaking to the Cleveland quarterback CLUB, Paul dwelt at surprising length on Kim Ninowski, the recruit from Michigan State.

The cool nights we had over the week end and the fact that many birds are now flocking together means one thing, fall and the hunting season are just around the corner.

The split squirrel season is causing mixed reaction among the nimrods. Some think it is fine while others believe the season should be set back until October. As the season stands, you may hunt squirrels in the southern zone beginning Sept. 5.

If you haven't seen the new digest of laws then stop in where you buy your license and pick one up.

COLUMBIANA county will partly be in the early season. South of Route 30, the season comes in Sept. 5 while in the north section of Route 30, squirrels cannot be hunted until Sept. 15.

At one time the split season was set according to county lines. Since there is no visible county line, the Wildlife Council thought a distinct highway would divide between a cow and a squirrel, but some of the farmers still won't trust you.

Live shot has been shot by careless individuals and there is no reason to believe that this season will be any different.

Even the hunters shoot each other, particularly the "movement" shooter. Keep in mind that you should positively identify an object as a squirrel before you pull the trigger. It is better to let a squirrel get away than to be guilty of shooting a farm animal or a human being.

Drag Racing, Anyone?

Monsters on wheels, these four weirdly styled and very hot-looking hot-rods are among the entries in the 1958 National Championship Drag Races at Oklahoma City, Okla. At right, top, is an early American Bantam Austin with a Chrysler engine amidships. Center is a 1927 Ford with "chopped" top and driver's seat ahead of the windshield. Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Darkness will come at noon once more in Moscow and the prisons will be filled soon again with the tortured. And the Biggest Brother of them all, Comrade Nikita Khrushchev will execute Comrades Molotov and Malenkov and Kaganovich.

This is the opinion of men I've talked with the Bolshoi border. This is the opinion of the men who last summer handed me a written memo predicting in depth and detail the purge of Gen.

of them before they can take advantage of his difficulties.

Whether they are or not is as unimportant as their lives—to him. Molotov and Malenkov are the only two men who have the power to plot against Khrushchev. There no longer are any influential upper class Bolsheviks left. Try to name one.

THE SHREWDEST of European intelligence agents say that the coming purge will be evidence that Khrushchev is mounting one big bluff in this series of crises.

These sources corroborate previous reports in this column that Khrushchev's and Mao's industrial systems are not only creaking. They're cracking.

As I moved along the Bolshoi border, for example, there was the report from Hungary that there, as well as in Russia proper, manpower was so scarce that they are now forcing 14-year-old children into the factories.

The report of such action inside Russia came on July 15. The Hungarian report, meaning official notice from that government, was released Aug. 3.

The Hungarian minister of labor issued a formal decree authorizing the employment of 14-year-olds as "auxiliary workers" for a six-hour day.

This notice was distributed to the managers of all "State Enterprises." When a state enslaves kids on the day of their 14th birthday, that state is in trouble on the industrial front—deep trouble.

To roll on further, there is more than beer brewing in Czechoslovakia's Pilsen.

THE RUSSIANS made heavy industrial equipment in that area

But there is constant sabotage all over Czechia, in fact.

The workers are helping themselves to the property of the workers' state. They're stealing the socialist corporations blind.

So the secret police in Czechia and other satellite states are cracking down on saboteurs of economy, pilferers of national or collective or socialist property.

Hundreds of working men are being arrested and jailed. They are imprisoned as "economic delinquents."

This is provoking resentment and slowdown in literally thousands of factories—on which the entire Soviet war machine rests.

As we go into the Red sunset, we find that in Poland, the Khrushchev emissaries recently told the Polish leaders not to take too seriously all this talk about the emancipation of the Polish workers.

This warning came just before the Polish crackdown on the Catholics. So Comrade Gomulka, Polish party boss, called in his country's labor leaders and told them that he had to renege on his pledge that he would permit strikes.

HE TOLD THEM that the Russians wanted more steel and heavy equipment and that strikes were outlawed.

Gomulka said that there will be no bargaining with the works council. Strikes are good only for capitalist nations. In a socialist state, walkouts are "anarchy."

In Romania things are so bad that the People's Assembly has just issued a decree ordering the death sentence for spoils of material or even as little as a $1,000 damage to "people's property."

These, of course, are only the highlights in the European sector of Bolshoi brutality. In China, Mao told Khrushchev that the Chinese would need machinery, technicians and money to build steel plants, roads, aircraft, tools and spare parts.

The Communist world just doesn't have such equipment. Nor does it have shoes, or textiles, or housing—except where a few Westerners can see them on the roads to the airport.

Comrade Khrushchev can certainly talk a good war. He can launch a war. But he can't support one. He is bluffing. His economy is crumbling. Wait and see.

Apple Sauce

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — What this world needs most today is a little more flattery, a revival of the good old art of apple sauce.

A great deal of ridicule has been directed at the "yes ma," but he fills a great need in society. We might do well with a few more of them.

Colleges now teach everything from bridge playing to how to cook an omelette. Why don't they have a course on the technique and use of flattery?

There is a saying that "flattery will get you nowhere." That saying is out-of-date and inaccurate. The truth is that the pendulum has swung the other way. If flattery won't get it for you, nothing will.

Flattery is the banana oil that greases the wheels of progress.

I never was more needed than right now. Mankind today is homesick for applause, and crying for a pat on the back.

We live in a century which, for one reason or another, goes in for too much self-hate. Practically everyone is afflicted with a sense of guilt—from panhandler to millionaire—and has a secret feeling he's a bum.

Time was when most people knew their own motives were pure but suspected the motives of others. They liked to think of themselves as being just a bit better than their neighbors—more honest, more sincere, more charitable, more moved by tolerance and good will.

No longer. Everybody seems to suspect himself first of all now. He needs no accusers. He not only casts the first stone—he casts it at himself. If he does a good deed, he asks himself cynically just what dark reason is really behind it.

The new psychology has turned us from self-applause to self-criticism. This wouldn't be bad in itself, if we didn't go overboard. But we have gone overboard. We are in danger of going on from self-questioning to self-hate. We are in danger of forgetting we are potential heroes as well as potential villains.

This mass sense of guilt has some odd aspects. The fat man becomes afraid to enjoy a good meal, for fear this shows he may be harboring a secret desire to commit suicide. The wealthy man hesitates to endow a charity, for fear he may really be doing it only to show off.

What we need now is a return to common sense and self-respect—and maybe a few career admirers to tell us we aren't really as bad as we think we are. We've run ourselves down long enough. Flattery, apple sauce, banana oil—call it what you will—it's what we need. It's far better than tranquilizers.

Everyone at heart today is yearning for someone to clap him on the shoulder and say: "Pa, you're real. The world wouldn't be the same without you." If you can't get someone else to tell you that, tell it to yourself over and over. In time you'll come to believe it, and feel better.

Two Dozen Appearances Are Scheduled

Bricker Opens Re-election Campaign

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Republican campaign team puts its heavy-hitter in the regular lineup tonight.

U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker, back home after congressional adjournment, opens an intensive bid for reelection at the Ross County

JOHN W. BRICKER
Three-Time Governor of Ohio

Women's Republican Club picnic in Chillicothe. He will share speaking honors with Atty. Gen. William Saxbe, GOP incumbent.

The former three-term governor and 1944 vice presidential nominee already has some two dozen appearances scheduled throughout the state in September. Looking and feeling sharp, according to friends, Bricker plans to keep a fast pace until the Nov. 4 election.

He indicated he will make known his stand on the union shop ban issue during the campaign. He previously asserted the proposed change in the state constitution should not appear on election ballots this year on grounds it is not a political issue.

Now that a vote on the question is assured, Bricker is expected to support the proposed amendment in speeches on labor matters in general.

"One of these days I'll make a speech on the whole labor situation as it involves both the past and the coming Congress," he told newsmen. "I'll probably include my position on right-to-work in that address. . . .

"There should be a strong federal law to protect the laboring man from the misappropriation of union funds by unscrupulous leaders, as has been shown by disclosures of the McClelland Committee."

Other campaign topics will include atomic energy developments. The senator has been a member of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee since its formation.

The former Ohio State University baseball player lived up to his vote-getting reputation by running up the largest total received by any candidate in the May primary election. He was unopposed for renomination to a third six-year term.

His Democratic opponent also was nominated without opposition. He is Stephen M. Young, 70, Cleveland, former four-term congressman and nominee for attorney general two years ago.

Young got a head start in the campaigning while Bricker was busy in Congress, although the senator managed more than a score of speeches in Ohio this year.

Bricker will observe his 65th birthday and his 38th wedding anniversary during the campaign next month. He will make appearances with other members of the Republican candidate "team" as well as individual speeches.

The senator and Mrs. Bricker, the former Harriet Day of Urbana, will be guests of honor for their anniversary at the Montgomery County Republican Women's Conference in Dayton Sept. 4.

They will mark the senator's birthday together two days later at a Seneca County Republican ox roast in Tiffin.

Bricker lost no time in unlimbering his handshaking arm after returning from Washington. He promptly attended the Ohio State Fair in Columbus.

Next Sunday he will attend a picnic in Euclid Beach Park near Cleveland sponsored by Cuyahoga County GOP organizations for party candidates.

On Sept. 3 he will award a trophy at the Medina County Fair in Medina. He will welcome U.S. Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.), formerly of Columbus, at a luncheon here on Sept. 5 and that night will attend a high school football revue at Kent State University.

With a grin, Bricker expressed the hope that schedule makers would leave open the dates for Ohio State University's home football games this fall.

Civil Defense Day
Scheduled Saturday

Simulating the interceptor defense of the Youngstown area against enemy bombers, jets of the Youngstown Air Force base will carry out flyovers, in conjunction with Civil Defense Day, at dora Park, Youngstown, on Saturday, William Wark, Salem and Columbiana County CD director, will be among those attending.

Displays of Nike missiles, U. S. Army Ordnance, Air Force equipment and Civil Defense emergency equipment will be displayed throughout the park.

The day is intended as a get-together for Civil Defense personnel in a 16 county Ohio-Pennsylvania area which comprises the Mahoning Valley Civil Defense Authority. In addition, the public is invited to inspect the equipment and see first-hand, some of the area's defense preparations.

An evening demonstration in the ball park will feature all of the steps in an alert, from the receipt of the air warning to the mock bombing of a community of buildings constructed for the purpose.

Robert S. Hay, Mahoning Valley Civil Defense director, and Leo F. McCarthy, director, 3rd Area, Ohio Civil Defense, are co-chairmen of the day.

Fruit Growers Hire
Packing Plant Manager

Salem Fruit Growers Cooperative Association has re-employed Henry Ross of Kidron to manage its new packing plant at Greenford.

Ross was hired last year to manage a temporary packing plant in the old Farm Bureau building at Columbiana. Since then, the Co-op has completed a packing plant as an addition to its cold storage building which has been in operation 20 years.

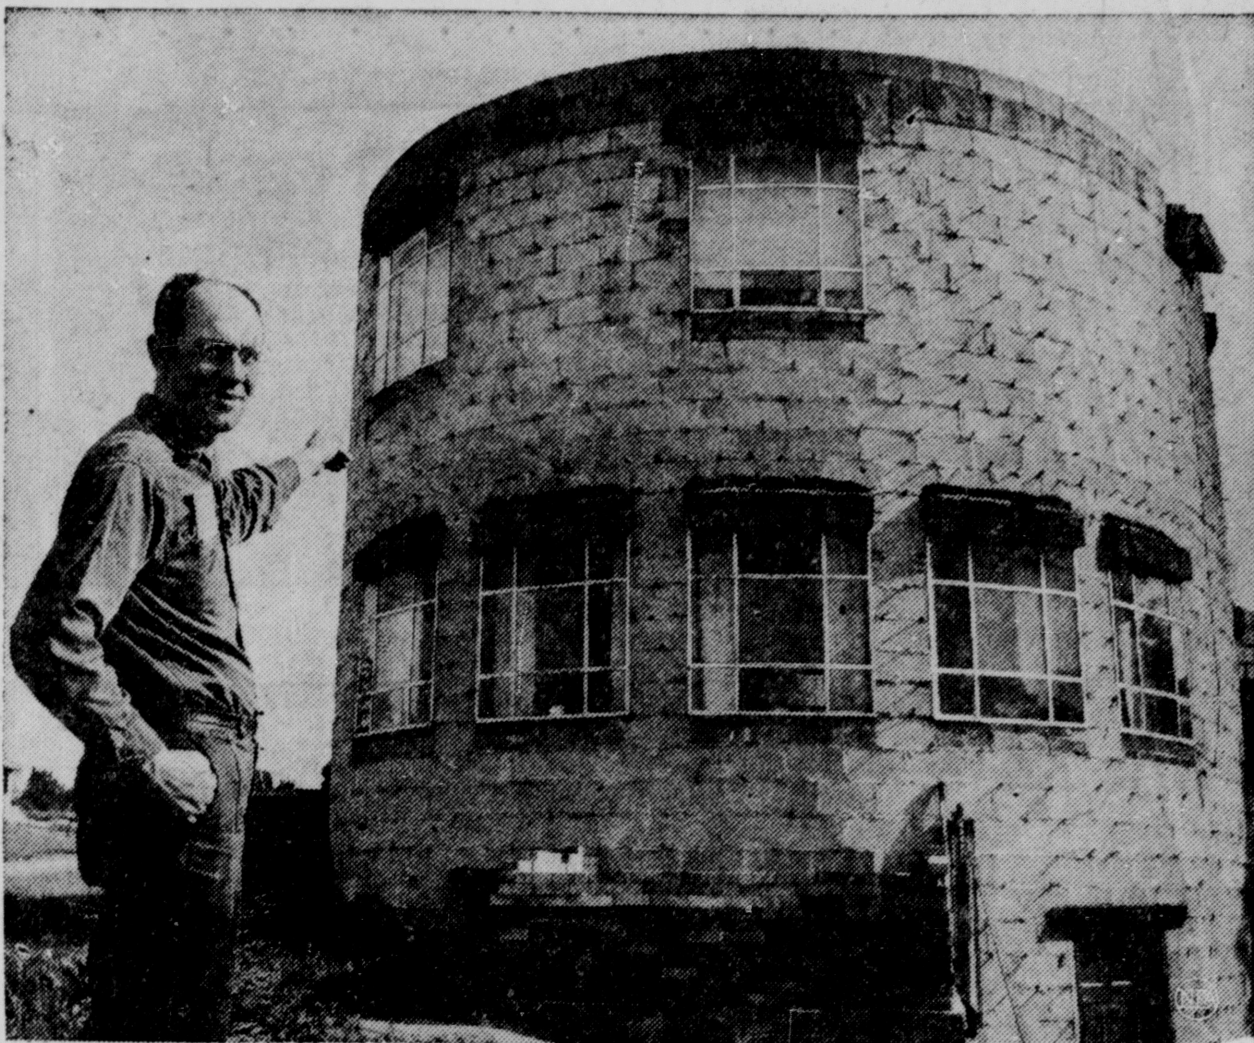

A grading and marketing meeting for apple growers of Columbiana and Mahoning counties will be held Thursday night, Sept. 11, at the new plant.

County Agent Floyd Lower at Lisbon says packing of apples will begin in a few days.

3-YEAR-OLD DIES

CLEVELAND (AP)—Three-year-old Mark R. Zone, who fell from a second floor window at his home here Monday, died of injuries Tuesday night in St. John's Hospital.

Ohio's egg production dropped four per cent in the first quarter of 1958.

NO PLACE TO HIDE—This house, as you well might guess, is the home of a railroad worker, Dick Oros of Grand Rapids, Mich. Oros, left, a machinist for the Chesapeake and Ohio, got his idea for the round house from European castles he saw during World War II service and from the many he's seen around railroad yards. Oros personally designed and built the two-story, cinder block and brick structure.

Here and There In Our Town

By DONNA AGAN

The 60 American Legion band uniforms will be on their way to Chicago Thursday with Bill Schaeffer and John Miller, band members who are driving through in the band's "milk wagon."

They figure that by leaving a couple days in advance they will make it in time for the band members to have their uniforms for national competition on Saturday. The valiant green and grey truck has gone to Atlantic City, Miami, and all the state band competitions and to everyone's amazement, always arrived at its destination . . . but the poor, old truck can't be rushed.

Monday night American Legion Band Auxiliary members worked on those green and grey uniforms. Mrs. John Dupal, whose son, Jack plays with the band, along with Mrs. Don Jackson (Don plays the tuba), Mrs. Nicholas Costa Sr. (Nick Jr., also plays tuba), Miss Beverly Costa, Mrs. Harry Abrams (her son, Don, is another tuba player), Miss Elaine Cavanaugh, and Mrs. A. J. Sanders (Al plays baritone sax) set buttons straight, secured belt hooks, repaired cuffs, linings and the gold braid, and generally attempted to get those 14-year-old uniforms in as perfect shape as possible for the tough competition this weekend.

A railroad that carries no passengers, no freight, but serves thousands . . . it's the Canfield Fair System, set up each year by the Railroad Community Committee of the Mahoning and Senago Valleys for the five days of the Mahoning County Fair, opening tomorrow. This elaborate model train system, built for the committee by the Youngstown Model Railroad Club, receives so much attention by fair-goers that it is operated by big eastern railroads, a only top rail officials crew the trains. It operates 10 hours a day as part of the fair's "railroad exhibit."
